BLAINE'S JOURNEY

THROUGH PENNSYLVANIA.

A Gloomy Day, but Enthusiastic Crowd—He Makes a Kingly Speech at the Home of Heaven—An Exciting Episode at Bellefonte—Prohibition Issue.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 27.—The Hon. James G. Blaine, who has been Pittsburgh's guest for several days, left this morning on his first tour through Pennsylvania. The party was scheduled to leave at 7:20 o'clock this morning. At that hour a special train was backed into the Union Station awaiting the arrival of the Plumed Knight. The train consisted of two passenger coaches and the Pullman sleeper "Davy Crockett," which carried Mr. Blaine, General Beaver and party to Pittsburgh on their first triumphal tour through the State. Promptly at 7 o'clock this morning the gentlemen who were to accompany the State statement were assembled at the depot, ready to start on their onward trip. Among them were O. L. Magee, who had charge of the party, Senator Lantz, of Lehigh, Judge P. O. Shannon, H. H. Byram, W. F. Reed, Mayor Fulton, A. M. Belmont, and a host of other gentlemen. E. C. Howland, of the Philadelphia Press, Charles Wesley, of the Associated Press, Philadelphia, and a number of local newspaper correspondents.

The time for the departure of the train approached and passed by and Mr. Blaine had not put in an appearance. As the minutes dragged by those who were waiting for him became a little uneasy, as they began to fear that he was ill. Finally, at 7:30 o'clock, Mr. Blaine was driven to the depot. He had a number of messages to answer, and tarried for a few moments at the telegraph office, where he hurriedly wrote five telegrams. As he walked out of the telegraph office, a number of gentlemen, as though some were missing, said: "I am looking for my son. He was to be here and was to accompany me through the State." An accommodation train was due in a couple of minutes, and the train was held to see if young Jim Blaine was among the passengers. During the interval Mr. Blaine said, in answer to a question from the writer: "I enjoyed myself very much yesterday while visiting the iron works, and was very successful in my work. I was well pleased with what I saw of Pittsburgh's industries. I am feeling quite well this morning. My voice is stronger to-day, though it still troubles me a little. Of course, it is a little hoarse, but I am a rather disagreeable day, but then it is pleasant for traveling than if it were dry." He then suddenly discovered that he was being interviewed by a reporter, and he hurriedly turned to the platform to see if his son, James G., Jr., was aboard the train which had just arrived at the depot. Young Jim was not on the train, however. He had been at East Liberty, expecting the special train to stop there. He was disappointed, and the train sped past East Liberty, leaving him behind. He followed after his father on the next train.

Mr. Blaine seemed very much disappointed that his son was not on the train. He hurriedly on board the "Davy Crockett" and at 8:05 o'clock the train pulled out of the depot, and the next morning was speeding on its journey toward the anthracite region of the State.

Reception at Williamsport. LEWISBURG, Pa., Oct. 27.—A brass band and several hundred people welcomed Mr. Blaine and party to Williamsport. They were taken in carriages to the park where about 8,000 citizens were waiting to greet the Plumed Knight. The route along the route to the park was decorated as on the fourth of July. The chairman of the meeting was Dr. Doan. Mr. Blaine's speech was of a humorous tone and provoked much laughter.

A Little Incident—A Struggle Ten Minutes Speech. LEWISBURG, Pa., Oct. 27.—Before the morning party arrived at Bellefonte this morning there was a lively time among the politicians and citizens generally. The cause of it was the store-order question. It was stated that P. Gray Meek had a facsimile of the alleged store order in the window of the Watchman office. The Beaver club seeing it, broke ranks to demand its return to the Sheriff. They claim that they first entered the office and requested that it be removed on the ground that it reflected on them as much as upon Beaver. Meeting with a refusal, they then entered the office and pulled it out. The store order was sent crashing through the French plate. Mr. Meek hastily summoned a sheriff, and a number of the club were arrested. A crowd followed them to the sheriff's office, where the accused was held all night.

Mr. Blaine delivered a ten minutes speech here which was received with hearty cheer. He said: "It seems to be a work of supererogation for me to come here to speak in favor of General Beaver, and it seems to me a work of supererogation for me to come to Pennsylvania to speak in favor of a protective tariff. [Applause.] I cannot avoid pointing out, however, that they are in a different situation from that which they have occupied since the protective tariff was enacted in 1861. For the first time in the history of the protective tariff the administration of the National Government is hostile to it. For the first time in 25 years the weight, the influence, the patronage of the National Government are against protective tariff, and the Republican party, the party of the protection of Pennsylvania, that is in every crisis of the past when that question was at stake you have borne the heat and burden of the day, so now you have imposed upon you an additional burden, it increased responsibility, to give such an expression against adverse influences as shall leave no doubt within the United States of the immovable character of Pennsylvania on the question of Pennsylvania's tariff. If she fails back on such a question, you cannot measure the adverse influence upon other States. Do not, therefore, slacken in your efforts to give you are to choose twenty-eight members of the House of Representatives. You are to choose a Legislature which in turn will choose a United States Senator, and remember above all that the high water mark of your popular influence to you is registered in the vote which you give for your own local townsmen and fellow-citizens, General Beaver. [Applause.]

THE PROHIBITION QUESTION. Maine Tarries at the Home of the Prohibition Candidate for Governor. LEWISBURG, Oct. 27.—This town is the home of Wolfe, the Prohibition candidate for Governor. Mr. Blaine spoke as follows: The political contest in Pennsylvania this year bears a very close analogy to that which we closed in Maine in September. We had a Republican party in the field, we had a Democratic party in the field and we had a third party in the field, professing a special devotion to the doctrine of prohibition. Maine has been a prohibitory State for thirty years, but the Third party of

THE PRESIDENT'S PROCLAMATION

Abrogating the Recent Order in Regard to Discriminations Against the Spanish Government—English Opinion of the Settlement—Washington News.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 27.—The President issued the following proclamation this afternoon: WHEREAS—Satisfactory proof has been given to me by the Government of Spain that no discriminating duties of tonnage or impost are imposed or levied by the islands of Cuba and Porto Rico, upon vessels wholly belonging to citizens of the United States or upon the produce, manufactures, or merchandise imported into the same from the United States or from any foreign country; and WHEREAS—Notwithstanding such abolition of discriminating duties of tonnage and impost as aforesaid has been given to me by a memorandum of agreement signed this day in the city of Washington, between the Secretary of State of the United States and the Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of Her Majesty, the Queen Isabella of Spain, accredited to the Government of the United States, in the city of Washington, before the Secretary of State of the United States, and the Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States of America, by virtue of the authority vested in me by section 4,228, of the Revised Statutes of the United States, do hereby declare and proclaim that from and after this my proclamation, being also the date of the notification received as aforesaid, the foreign discriminating duties and impost with the United States as suspended by the Executive Order of the 10th day of August, 1886, shall be terminated, and the vessels of Spain and the produce, manufactures, or merchandise imported in said vessels into the United States from the islands of Cuba and Porto Rico, or from any other foreign country, shall be exempted from the duties and impost which have been levied upon the same by the United States, and the vessels of Spain and the produce, manufactures, or merchandise imported in said vessels into the United States from the islands of Cuba and Porto Rico, or from any other foreign country, shall be exempted from the duties and impost which have been levied upon the same by the United States, and the vessels of Spain and the produce, manufactures, or merchandise imported in said vessels into the United States from the islands of Cuba and Porto Rico, or from any other foreign country, shall be exempted from the duties and impost which have been levied upon the same by the United States.

Opinions at Washington. WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Ever since the issue of President Cleveland's proclamation restoring the discriminating duties on imports under the Spanish flag, negotiations have been in progress between the Governments of Spain and the United States looking to an adjustment of the points in dispute. It is now generally understood that the Spanish government is ready to accept temporarily the interpretation placed upon the treaty by the United States; and that the United States government is ready to accept the Spanish interpretation. It is believed that an agreement can be reached by the two governments that will obviate the necessity for the ratification of a new treaty.

NEGOTIATIONS WITH SPAIN. An Amicable Settlement Consummated—Washington Opinions. LONDON, Oct. 27.—The Times correspondent at Madrid says that Senor Moret, the Spanish Foreign Minister, and Mr. Curry, the United States Minister, are both to be congratulated upon the commercial arrangement their respective governments have agreed upon and which will be of great benefit to the commerce of both countries. The arrangement is said to be a very important one, and it is believed that it will be of great benefit to the commerce of both countries. Whittier on the Statue of Liberty: The land that, from the rule of Kings, In freedom was itself made free, On a clouded day in spring, One of our grandest deeds was done, We rear the symbol free hands gave.

LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS. NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—The officers of the National Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers were to-day re-elected. They are as follows: Grand Chief Engineer P. M. Arthur, of Cleveland; Second Grand Engineer J. R. Spragg, of Toronto, Ont.; First Grand Assistant Engineer Harry O. Hays, of Cleveland; Second Grand Assistant Engineer A. H. Overton, of San Francisco. The term of the Grand Chief is 3 years, and that of the other officers is 1 year. The officers of the Brotherhood were re-elected to their respective offices, and the members of the Brotherhood were re-elected to their respective offices.

IRON PIPE ADVANCED. PITTSBURGH, Oct. 27.—At a meeting of the National Pipe Manufacturers held to-day prices were slightly advanced. Trade was reported remarkably brisk. Don't trifles with any throat or lung disease. If you have a cough or cold, or any other throat or lung disease, get a bottle of Dr. King's English Remedy, and you will find it a most valuable and reliable remedy. It is a most valuable and reliable remedy, and it is a most valuable and reliable remedy.

Uran Election Board. WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Mr. Abner S. Williams, who was yesterday appointed to be a member of the Board of Registration and Election in the Territory of Utah, vice James B. Pettigrew, deceased, is now on his way to Salt Lake City, where he will be sworn in as a member of the Board. He is a most valuable and reliable member of the Board, and he is a most valuable and reliable member of the Board.

NOT A GAMBLING DEBT. A Significant Decision in a Suit Growing Out of Oil Transactions. BRADFORD, Pa., Oct. 27.—A case in which oil-brokers the country over are interested was decided in the County Court at Snetsport to-day. Warren C. Gray, a broker, sued J. H. Miller and James Lewis for a balance due on oil bought for delivery. The transaction occurred in November, 1882, when the market broke from $1.20 to 95 cents. The defendants claim that it was a gambling debt, and therefore not recoverable.

IT WILL BE A GREAT DAY. NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—To-morrow will practically be a holiday in this city. It is estimated that fully 30,000 men will be in the parade attendant upon the Bartholdi Statue of Liberty ceremonies, and that it will extend seven miles. President Cleveland had intended to leave for Washington immediately after the dedication ceremony.

FOUR MEN FOUND DEAD. On an Oyster Schooner—A Remarkable Story of Murder. BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 27.—A man named Michael Long, a dredger on the oyster schooner Silver Spray, visited the United District Attorney's office to-day, where he told a remarkable story of the murder of four men on an oyster schooner in Honger river, Dorchester county, Md., long since. He said that he and three other men were on the schooner, and that they had been murdered. He said that he had been the only survivor, and that he had been the only survivor.

DIETRY INTO A DESPOTISM. The Scheme to Make Diaz Dictator for a Term of Years—The Lament of the Press Over the Lethargy of the People Who Appear to be Blind to the Schemes. NOGALES, A. T., Oct. 27.—The proposal of prominent Mexicans to establish a Dictatorship to replace the Presidency of Mexico, is causing a good deal of comment along the border. The Mexican papers with few exceptions, have lately espoused the scheme and urge its adoption, but the tone of the opposition journals is extremely bitter. One of the latter, El Monitor Francésico, says: "General Diaz prepares the road to the Dictatorship; the Voz de Mexico has entered the arena and declares it. Congress is called on to sanction the will of the Caesar of the Continent. Senor Romo Rubio works assiduously to realize this new plan. Not being able to bring to success his project to prolong the presidential term, he took up the Dictatorship; and so it happens that this project is favored by a pillar of the Conservative party, and the people seem to be indifferent to the attempt to usurp the presidential power. The Dictatorship for General Diaz for twenty years. Why not hereditary? When nations do not possess the necessary manhood to be free, nothing is more evident than that despots will take advantage of their indolence and erect thrones and assume the scepter. It is nine years now since the men of Gutierrez (Diaz's party) climbed step by step the ladder which leads to despotism, and once there they have put the people in a state of ignorance of the fundamental laws, and all that is wanted is the reign of a sole will. The life of a slave is sorrowful, and we need to redeem it as men of action, men whose hearts belong to the country, not to the herd of speculators. If men were to disappear, we bow respectfully to the ruins of the Republic, and exclaim: 'Long live Porfirio!'"

THE EXPRESS ROBBERY. The Messenger's Story Credited by the Officials—Clues Found. ST. LOUIS, Oct. 27.—There are no new developments in the Adams Express robbery at this writing. Mr. Damsel was seen at his office this morning and said that he had been at the scene of the robbery, but that he had not seen the robbers. UNSETTLED MEXICO.

DRIFTING INTO A DESPOTISM.

The Scheme to Make Diaz Dictator for a Term of Years—The Lament of the Press Over the Lethargy of the People Who Appear to be Blind to the Schemes.

NOGALES, A. T., Oct. 27.—The proposal of prominent Mexicans to establish a Dictatorship to replace the Presidency of Mexico, is causing a good deal of comment along the border. The Mexican papers with few exceptions, have lately espoused the scheme and urge its adoption, but the tone of the opposition journals is extremely bitter. One of the latter, El Monitor Francésico, says: "General Diaz prepares the road to the Dictatorship; the Voz de Mexico has entered the arena and declares it. Congress is called on to sanction the will of the Caesar of the Continent. Senor Romo Rubio works assiduously
